OVERVIEW

- Introduction
- 1 This publication provides information concerning the sample file on magnetic media which contains unit record data from the 1993-94 Household Expenditure Survey. This file, called the 1993-94 Household Expenditure Survey Confidentialised Unit Record File (CURF), is now available.
 - 2 The Household Expenditure Survey, conducted throughout Australia during July 1993 to June 1994, obtained information on the household characteristics and detailed expenditure of households in Australia, as well as information on the characteristics of persons in the household, plus some of the characteristics of their dwellings.
 - 3 The survey covered persons in private dwellings. Trained ABS interviewers were used to collect information from persons aged 15 years or more in the household.
 - 4 The survey was conducted during July 1993 to June 1994, with a final sample of around 8,400 dwellings.
 - 5 Estimates from the survey, as well as more information on the scope, definitions and methodology used in the survey, are published in: 1993-94 Household Expenditure Survey: User Guide (6527.0), or 1993-94 Household Expenditure Survey: Detailed Expenditure Items (6535.0).
 - 6 As well as the CURF and the data released in the above publications, there is also available an extensive range of State and Capital city tables and unpublished data. Inquiries should be directed to the contact officer of the Household Income and Expenditure section on (06) 252 7614.

- Release of the data
- 7 The release of the data is possible under the Census and Statistics Act 1905, which has provision for the release of data in the form of unit records where the information is not likely to enable the identification of a particular person or organisation. Accordingly, there are no names or addresses of survey respondents on the CURF and the detail for some data items has been suppressed or reduced to ensure that the confidentiality of individuals is protected.
 - 8 The CURF will only be provided under the conditions set forth in the Conditions of sale (see page 7), and following the Australian Statistician's approval for its release.

- Magnetic media formats
- 9 The CURF is available on:
 - Magnetic tape (see pages 17 to 26); or
 - Floppy disk (see page 18).

- File and record structure
- 10 The CURF is distributed on either a single reel of magnetic tape or on floppy disk, and contains five files associated with the survey:
 - File 1 is a series of 670,086 records, made up of 8,389 household records, 30,909 person records and 630,788 expenditure records. Each household record is 575 characters long. Each person record is 248 characters long. Each expenditure record is 26 characters long.
 - File 2 is a 'print file' in that it contains standard ANSI control characters. A purchaser may print this file to obtain extensive documentation about the data in File 1.

- File 3 is a compressed and formatted version of File 2 which a purchaser may load into their system for ADP purposes. Each record in this file contains 148 bytes. The basic difference between Files 2 and 3 is that, in File 3, the carriage return (printer control) character and superfluous blank characters have been removed, and fields have been placed in specific positions within the records, together with identifiers to enable interpretation. Further information is provided with the CURF.
- File 4 is a copyright warning file.
- File 5 is a text file that contains three SAS programs. There is a SAS program to read each of the household, person and expenditure record types separately into their respective files. Users of this program will have to adapt the INFILE and DATA step names to suit their requirements.

Using the data

- | | |
|----------------------|--|
| Classifications | 11 Some changes have been made to data items to avoid the release of identifiable information, namely: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> (a) Detail of many data items (see pages 27 to 54) have been reduced. (b) Perturbation of all income items not expressed in ranges. (c) Ranging and collapsing of variables as in previous releases of HES CURFs. (d) Broad Geographic Area (i.e. Metropolitan, Other urban and Rural) has not been released this time. |
| Data item list | 12 The data items which are on the CURF are listed, starting on page 27. Unless otherwise stated, all zero values are 'Not applicable' (i.e. the respondent was not asked the question). |
| Effects of sampling | 13 As the survey was conducted on a sample of all households in Australia, it is important to take account of the method of sample selection when deriving estimates from the CURF. This is particularly important as a person's chance of selection in the survey varied depending on the State or Territory or, in some cases, area of State/Territory in which he/she lived. 14 Each record contains a 'weight'. For person, income unit and household records, the 'weight' takes account of the probability of selection in the sample from their region, with an adjustment to account for under-enumeration. 15 If estimates of population sub-groups are to be derived from the CURF, it is essential that they are calculated by adding the weights of households in each category and not just by counting the number falling into each category. If each household's 'weight' were to be ignored, then no account would be taken of the fact that a household's chance of being selected in the survey varied from region to region and the resulting estimates would be seriously biased. |
| Estimation procedure | 16 Estimates derived from the survey are obtained by using a complex regression estimation procedure, which ensures that the survey estimates conform to both an independently estimated distribution of the population by age and sex at the State of residence and region level and an independently estimated distribution of households by household type (i.e. number of adults and number of children) at the State of usual residence. See Technical Notes in 1993-94 Household Expenditure Survey: User Guide (6527.0). 17 Further information on how to use the data is provided with the CURF. |

- Sampling errors 18 Any statistics produced from the CURF will be subject to sampling errors. Tables of standard errors (which are a measure of sampling error) are provided with the CURF.
- Reconciliation with published data 19 As a result of the steps that have been taken to preserve confidentiality, it is not possible to reconcile exactly some data produced from the CURF with published data.
- Charges 20 The price for the CURF, as at April 1996, is listed on the Order Form (see pages 9 to 11). The price includes freight and handling charges to a destination within Australia. Overseas clients are required to pay the appropriate freight charge.
- Conditions of sale 21 The CURF is released under strict conditions. Prior to completing the CURF Order Form, prospective purchasers should carefully read the Conditions of Sale described on pages 7 and 8.
- 22 The CURF is released in accordance with a Ministerial Determination (Clause 7, Statutory Rules 1983, No. 19) (see pages 14 and 15) made in pursuance of Section 13 of the Census and Statistics Act 1905. As required by the Determination, the CURF has been designed so that the information on the file will not enable the identification of the particular persons or households to which it relates.
- 23 In pursuance of Clause 7, the Determination requires a prospective purchaser to sign an undertaking (see pages 12 and 13) that they will:
- not attempt to identify particular persons or households; and
 - not attempt to match the data with administrative lists of persons or households; and
 - use the information for statistical purposes only; and
 - not disclose the information to any other person or organisation.
- 24 Note that access to the CURF is restricted to persons or households who have given an Undertaking. Other potential users of the data must therefore make separate application to the ABS.
- 25 The CURF can only be used for statistical purposes. Examples of statistical purposes are:
- the manipulation of the data to produce means, correlations or other descriptive or summary measures;
 - the estimation of population characteristics from sample data;
 - the use of data as input to mathematical models or for other types of analysis (e.g. factor analysis); and
 - to provide graphical or pictorial representations of the characteristics of the population or subsets of the population.
- 26 Use of the data for unauthorised purposes may render a user liable to severe penalties. For further information about the propriety of any particular intended use of the data, please contact the ABS.
- 27 While the utmost care is taken in preparing and handling each CURF, deterioration may occur between the time of copying and receipt of the file. Accordingly, if the file is unreadable on receipt and this is reported to the ABS within 30 days of receipt, it will be recopied free of charge. As an added precaution, a security copy ('backup') of the file should be made on receipt.

How to order 28 Please submit orders on the form provided on pages 9 to 11. The Order Form, which asks for formatting requirements etc., should be completed with the assistance of someone with technical knowledge of the computer system to be used to process the files.

29 In the case of requests from households, please ensure that the required Undertaking is signed by someone authorised to sign legal documents on behalf of the purchasing organisation and that a copy of the signed Order Form and the Undertaking are retained by the purchasing organisation.

30 Note that we can not process orders unless we have received a fully completed and signed Order Form and Undertaking. The Australian Statistician will not approve the release of a CURF before signed undertakings have been received from the purchaser.

CONFIDENTIALISED UNIT RECORD FILE (CURF) FORMATS

MAGNETIC TAPE FORMATS

|--|--|
| Tape specifications | All data on magnetic tape from household sample surveys are supplied from the ABS Canberra office and encoded by a FACOM M780 computer. All tapes are of standard dimensions (730m x 12.7mm) and use 9 tracks. |
| Tape labelling conventions | Three labelling options are available: <ul style="list-style-type: none">■ FACOM Standard Label (same as IBM Standard Label). A label block consists of an 80 character EBCDIC coded fixed format record prefixed as for Australian Standard Labels but with some fields containing different information. However, the contents of the main fields are the same as for ANSI X3.27 labels. For a complete description, see pages 19 to 26;■ Australian Standard Label (ANSI X3.27 — 1978 and AS 1068 — 1971). A label block consists of an 80 character ASCII coded fixed format record prefixed by the characters VOL1, HDR or EOF. For a complete description, see pages 20 and 21; and■ Unlabelled. Note: All data files labelled and unlabelled will be encoded using either ASCII or EBCDIC Code Sets and will be blocked. The last file of data will be terminated by two consecutive tape marks. Although the ABS can supply unlabelled tapes from the M780 computer, the practice is strongly discouraged. |
| Recording densities | There are two recording densities available, and these are phase encoded 63 RPmm (1600 BPI) and 246 RPmm (6250 BPI). |
| Code sets | Two code sets are available: <ul style="list-style-type: none">■ ASCII Code Set (AS1776 – 1975) which requires a minimum of 7 bits for representation. ABS always writes this code in 8 bit representation with the high order bit set to zero. This code will not be represented on tapes with FACOM Standard Labels; and■ EBCDIC Code Set. The ABS always writes this code in 8 bit representation. This code will not be represented on tapes with ANSI labels. |
| Block sizes | The block sizes, which can only be allocated by the ABS, will be as close as possible to 2048 characters. This is the maximum block size allowed for ANSI labelled tapes. |
| Provision of magnetic tapes | The CURF will be supplied on ABS tapes. These tapes are certified 730m x 12.7mm new tapes. |
| Initialising arrangements for magnetic tapes | All tapes will be initialised by the ABS under its Tape Management System (TMS). Labelled tapes will be allocated volume serial numbers (VSNs) by the ABS and hardcopy of the label details will be supplied to you. You may specify an expiry date on the order form. Unlabelled tapes can also be provided. |
| ABS recommended tape option | The ABS recommends that the data be provided on 9 track tapes which are FACOM Standard labelled and written at 246 RPmm (6250 BPI) using the EBCDIC code set. |

FLOPPY DISK FORMATS

If you choose to obtain the data on floppy disks, to enable processing of the data on IBM or IBM compatible microcomputers, the data files will be provided on appropriately labelled disks, in a highly compressed format. Public domain software, together with associated documentation, will be provided to enable you to de-compress the files into the same format as would normally be provided on magnetic tape and, as such, would reflect the documentation provided in this publication.

MAGNETIC TAPE VOLUME AND DATA SET LABELS

Section A — FACOM Standard Labels (same as IBM Standard Labels)

Each label is one 80-byte record containing various attributes of the data set or reel. EBCDIC code is used.

There are five kinds of labels, as shown in Figure 1.

(same as IBM Standard Labels)

Volume label

One volume label exists as the first block on each reel. This label contains the volume serial number (VSN), owner name, and other data pertinent to this reel. A volume label is characterised by its first four characters: VOL1.

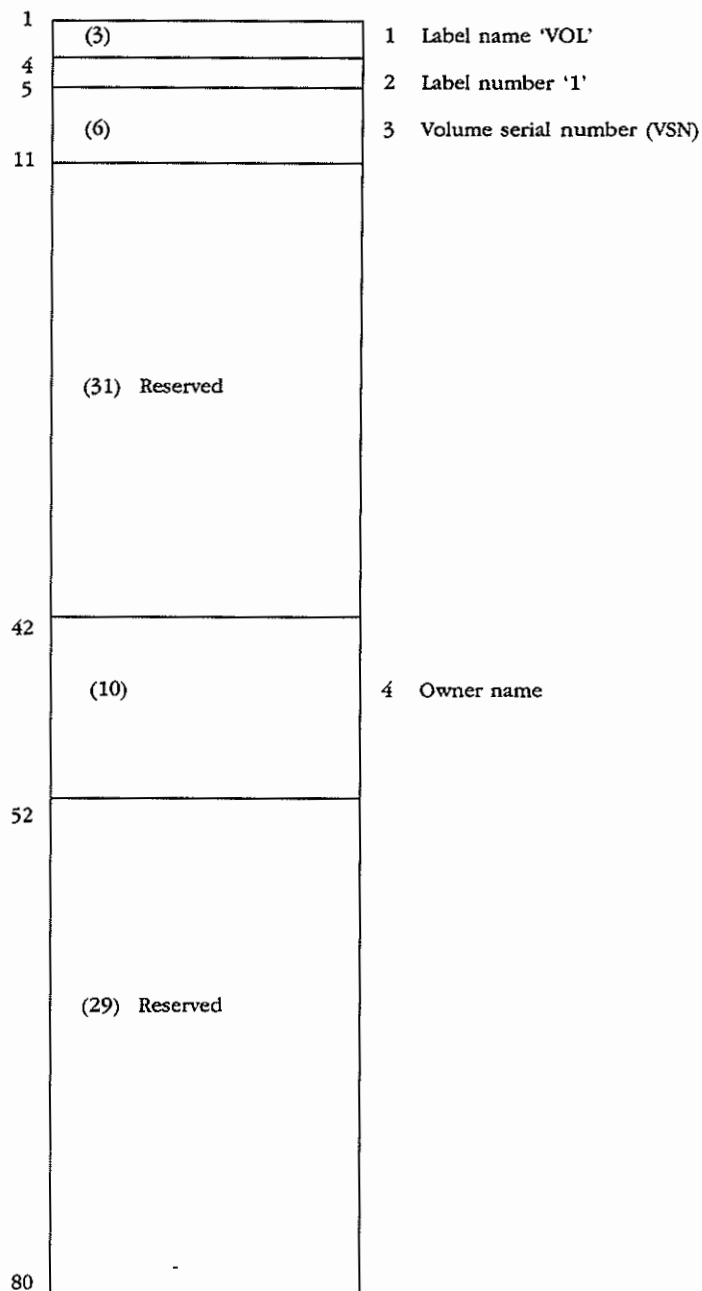

Header labels

Two header labels are written at the front of each file: header label 1 (HDR1) and the header label 2 (HDR2). The former contains an identification of this file, the latter contains various attributes.

Trailer labels

Two trailer labels are written at the end of each file: trailer label 1 (EOF1) and trailer label 2 (EOF2). As can be seen from Figure 1, header and trailer labels are paired for each file on the volume. Trailer labels are quite similar to header labels, since reel processing does not always start from the front of a file, for example, when reading backwards.

Note: Reserved - all blank

Standard volume label format:
Refer to Figure 2.

1. Label name.
Indicates that the label is a volume label; always 'VOL'.
2. Label number.
This is the sequence number of the volume label. There is only one volume label for a standard label reel; hence, its sequence number is always '1'.
3. Volume serial number (VSN).
One to six EBCDIC characters. Used to cite a specific volume. Externally readable label on the reel should agree with this serial number for operating convenience.
4. Owner name.
Arbitrary identifier of up to ten EBCDIC characters.

3. File name.
Seventeen character left-justified data set name. When less than seventeen characters, padded on right with blanks.
4. File serial number.
Serial number of first volume on which this data exists.
5. Volume sequence number.
Sequence number for a data set on one or more volumes. Volume sequence number is always '0001' for a single volume.
6. File sequence number.
Relative position of each data set on the volume (ranges through 0001-9999). This is relative to the first volume.
7. Generation number.
Blank.
8. Version number.
Blank.
9. Creation date.
Indicates year and day the data set was created:

| | yy | Last two digits of the calendar year (00-99) |
| | ddd | Day in the year (001-366). |
10. Expiry date.
Indicates year and date until which the data set is protected from deletion. Same format as the creation date. Field is character '0' if not specified, and the protection interval is null.
11. Security indicator.
Set to '0' (unprotected).
12. Block count.
Total number of data blocks in the data set. Stored in the trailer label (EOF1 or EOVI); always '0' in the header label (HDR1).
13. System code.
Identifier for the system that created the data set. Always 'FACOM OSIV / F4' (13 bytes) for reels created on this operating system.

Section B — Australian Standard Labels (ANSI)

ANSI labels have basically the same format as FACOM standard labels. There are some differences in positions of fields in VOL1 and HDR1. HDR3 and subsequent header labels are not used. All ANSI labels and data are recorded in ASCII code at a recording density of 63 RPmm (1600 BPI) or 246 RPmm (6250 BPI).
